

Operational Excellence in Pharma: Towards Deep Structures

4th of November 2026 | Dublin, Ireland

Frequently as a result of changes like new product introduction and large transformations the maturity of production systems start to drop. How can structures be implemented to stop this deterioration of production systems?

That is the question the University of St.Gallen, TU Dublin and SA Partners are putting on the table for a full day in Dublin.

Engage in interactive workshops & networking sessions to expand your expertise and connect with peers!
